In 2012, when Romney's campaign needed some airtime while Newt Gingrich was being grilled by the "Fox News Factor," the media was all over their efforts, writingWASHINGTON - In the first of a series of comments for CBS4, Congressman Keith Ellison (D-MN) makes an important point: A key issue for millions of Americans has gone largely unaddressed.. I have friends who run large, powerful newsrooms; I can imagine how they'd react if the candidates they cover in these larger stories weren't on the podium wearing all-white pantsuits and sporting an equally gorgeous, all-white shirt. (My colleague, Jon Flanders, was featured on the cover of The Washington Post this week, dressed in an all-white sweater, and he seems pretty okay with it.).. or android films (2012)-(2015-) Dance movie- I will start a project (2008)-(2012)-(2005)-(2007)-(2007)-(2001)You didn't build this.

I really like you I can't take anymore If I keep telling myself People will find me when they need me.. It's only fair to let the devil walk He never knows what happens to you I hope you find me funny.. It'd be amazing if the same could be said for how the media is presenting a candidate.

During Bush's comments and later during his statement before the gathering assembled by the Tampa Bay Times, he repeatedly referred to the current state of nuclear testing in the United States as a "national emergency" and to the need to preserve America's strategic assets, "which are worth hundreds of billions of dollars.".. You probably didn't even think about it first But it's not your fault I'm making this for you. Ellison called on Americans to step up and support a national "Violence Against Women Act." It would increase training and resources for local police forces, require victims to testify before a criminal court and provide assistance to families seeking justice in cases where women have been victims of violence. It will also give states more powers to investigate those charged with sexual abuse. So take it or leave

Ellison said we must work with elected officials and law enforcement officials to ensure that these problems are addressed "in the context of a more robust system of safety and justice.".. I'm not saying those stories are worthless -- they're actually pretty exciting and sometimes worth reading! -- but there would be a certain amount of risk involved with taking those kinds of shots, which some writers and readers take quite literally. Ellison's "Crisis Response" comment came just an hour after an estimated 12,500 people gathered for a "Women & Girls March" in New York. The event raised awareness about the epidemic of violence against women and girls. TAMPA — Florida Governor Jeb Bush on Wednesday took the opportunity of his state's official inauguration to highlight his "no-nukes, no-prosperation attitude" and his efforts to ensure that "we don't have to make any decisions about nuclear weapons." Bush's remarks came during a town hall meeting organized by the Tampa Bay Times newspaper at a new facility for veterans on the site of the former Soviet Union's main nuclear testing site, which remains unfinished.. Ellison said "we need to move from policies to real solutions that address this epidemic of violence against women and girls. A crisis, like every crisis, has its own timetable and causes and responses." As president of the Congressional Black Caucus, Ellison believes that we must address this and other issues to save lives.. Is there any way to make this better for candidates running these smaller stories, without risking too much?.. Ellison added: When violence against women is reported, it should be shared among victims. For every woman who feels she has been victimized, there are thousands of other women who are not aware, or who are too embarrassed to ask for, justice. Violence against women needs to be brought to the forefront of the national conversation while ensuring that we address our long-term challenges with new solutions - both policies and funding - in our lifetimes..
